The Navy decided today to replace the collision-shattered bow of the Wasp with one from its sister-ship, the carrier Hor-

net. As the gigantic repair job got underway on the drydocked Wasp, a Navy board of inquiry met to begin a probe into the mid-Atlantic collision of the carrier and the destroyer-mine-sweeper Hobson. The lives of 176 Hobson crewmen were lost in the disaster. (NEA Telephoto)

Deer Controls Bill Puts GOP Solons In Hole

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
LANSING—(P)—The diehards in the House of Representatives who refused to give the revision of the game law immediate effect have the Republican legislative leaders in a hole.

The bill includes features earnestly sought by not only sportsmen but by farmers as well. The big thing the sportsmen want is the granting of discretionary power over deer hunting to the Conservation commission in the Lower Peninsula.

Seasons Lengthened
The farmers succeeded in postponing the opening of the pheasant season five days to help them get more of their crops in before the hunters swarm all over their land. But refusal of strong group of old-liners in the House to vote for immediate effect means that no one will get any good out of the bill until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

To keep the record straight, it should be recorded that there is lots more in the bill that a lot of people want to be effective before next fall's hunting season.

For instance, the bill greatly lengthens the hunting seasons on grouse, rabbits and raccoons. It redefines the crime of spotlighting deer to make arrests of offenders easier and adds three new counties to those in which archers may shoot deer of either sex.

Penalty For Vandalism
The farmers also want another provision that would permit a conservation officer to arrest hunters who see cutting fences or committing other acts of vandalism.

The discretionary power feature, of course, has been the objective of sportsmen's groups for years. They see it as the only way to adjust the harvest of deer to take off the surplus and thus maintain the herd at high levels and end winter deer starvation.

Knowing full well that the Legislature adjourns on May 14, the bill is expected to pass.

Ridgway Orders Troops To Free U. S. General Held By Red POWs

By DON HUTH
SEOUL — (P)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet said tonight he will use force if necessary "at an early date" to free Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd from Red war prisoners who seized him on Kojima Island two days ago.

At the same time, the U. S. Eighth Army chief announced that Dodd no longer was the commander of the unruly prison off the southeast tip of Korea. Van Fleet also ordered an investigation of the incident.

Whether Dodd might be returned to his command after release was not made clear by Van Fleet. He said Dodd henceforth was talking to the Reds as an individual, not as camp commander.

Demands Unreasonable
The camp was placed under the command of Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson "with full authority and command to handle the situation," Van Fleet added.

Van Fleet declared he never would give in to the Reds' "unreasonable" demands for special privileges in return for the release of Dodd.

One thing that may be staying the hand of prison authorities now is that they do not know in what tent or building Dodd is being held.

While Dodd has sent out written messages and has talked by telephone, authorities have been unable to trace the telephone line. It runs from an undisclosed spot. The Reds set up the phone lines themselves.

Van Fleet said other compounds on the sprawling island were quiet. About 80,000 Red prisoners are being held there.

He emphasized that the Eighth Army had taken "sufficient action to make available all means necessary" to free Dodd, but did not amplify his statement.

Seized At Gate
The U. S. Eighth Army commander made his statement after a flying trip to rebellious Kojima, off the southern tip of Korea.

Van Fleet was under orders from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander, "to use whatever force is necessary" to free Dodd without delay.

The 52-year-old Dodd has been a prisoner since Wednesday, when he was seized at the gate of the camp.

Treaty Drafted To Unite Forces In Single Army

PARIS—(P)—Six West European nations tonight initiated the draft of a treaty to create a one-uniform European army.

The army of about 1,300,000 men will be headed by Marshal Alfonso Juin of France in his role as commander of the ground forces of NATO's central European sector.

There are many long steps to be taken before this can be an accomplished fact. But today's ceremony, which took place in the French foreign office, capped 15 months of work by experts who have been ironing out the complex details of pooling the military resources of the six nations into a common European Defense Community.

Ministers Act Next
The draft will be handed to the foreign ministers of the six member nations—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—for final study.

It is expected to be signed later this month. After that it still faces the hurdle of parliamentary approval in each country.

High hurdles still will face the plan after that, before the projected one-uniform army of some 40 divisions can take the field under the military commander for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. These include:

1. Ratification by the parliaments of the six nations. Much trouble is expected in West Germany, which wants to get more concessions for its troops, and in France, where many oppose putting any Germans in uniform.

2. Signing and ratification of the peace contract between West Germany and the United States, Britain and France. Recent German demands for more concessions have indicated this may be a long way off. Until the peace contract is ratified, the army treaty under its own terms can not take effect.

Regarding the time that ratification may take, the Schuman plan to pool the same nations' steel and coal was signed almost 13 months ago. The Netherlands and Italy have not completed ratification, and Belgium and Luxembourg haven't even started the parliamentary process.

Will Take Two Years
Military experts anticipate a year of training before German troops can make any effective contribution to western defense. Since the 1948 Presidential race.

Key Southern lawmakers, in view of Truman's past stand, disagreed as to whether Civil Rights differences can be patched up. Sens. Burnet Maybank of South Carolina and Walter George of Georgia said they expected a compromise and a united party by general election time. Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, however, said he sees little difference between the 1948 and 1952 situations.

Deadlock Broken To OK Increases In Military Pay

WASHINGTON — (P)—Congressional leaders today planned early approval of military pay increases ranging from three dollars a month for privates and seamen up to $65 for two-star generals and admirals.

The long Senate-House deadlock over cost of living increases for 3½ million men and women in the armed forces and other uniformed services was broken late yesterday.

A Senate-House conference committee agreed on a compromise measure providing 484 million dollars of additional pay for those in uniform or who have retired.

Only One Hitch
It figures out to a 4 per cent increase in base pay and a 14 per cent increase in food and rental allowances.

The compromise now must be approved by both the House and Senate before it goes to President Truman.

One possible hitch still remains. The conference committee dropped a Senate proposal for $45 a month extra combat pay for all Korean veterans and Rep. Brooks

Gun Death Ends Chelsea Brawl

CHELSEA, Mich.—(P)—The roar of a shotgun put an end to a drunken argument here last night. It also left one man dead and two women, one of them his wife, in jail.

The victim was George Arthur Allen, 74, his abdomen ripped by a 12-gauge charge fired at close range.

Mary Stacey, 52, was arrested for investigation of murder and Joanna Allen for questioning later. The Allens were man and wife and lived in a two-room shack with the Stacey woman. All are Negroes.

Sheriff's deputies said that Mrs. Allen was too drunk to make a coherent statement last night and that Mary Stacey was "little better off."

Mary Lou Osborne, a 15-year-old white neighbor, told authorities she had gone to the shack to cut Allen's hair when a drunken argument started between the trio and Mary Stacey finally announced she was going to get a gun. When the woman returned with a gun she ran, Mary Lou said.

Mary Lou said she heard the discharge of the gun as she reached her home 100 yards away, and Beecher Osborne, Mary Lou's father, told officers he saw Mary Stacey emerge from the shack, break a gun and throw a spent shell into a field.

McGrany was nominated by President Truman early last month to succeed J. Howard McGrath in the cabinet post.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) announced the committee vote following a brief closed session. He declined to give the votes of individual committee members, but it was unofficially reported that the four votes against confirmation were cast by Ferguson and Senators Watkins (R-Utah), Jenner (R-Ind.) and Hendrickson (R-N.J.).

McCarran said Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) was absent and did not vote. Committee members questioned McGrany at length about whether he thought the President had any such "inherent" powers as he asserted when he seized the strike-threatened steel industry.

McGrany said the President must exhaust the powers given him by law before he can stake any claim to inherent power, but he also contended that in an extreme emergency he can act to preserve the nation.

Democrats Wonder If Civil Rights Will Split Party Again

(By The Associated Press)
Republicans had foreign aid spending as an issue in their Presidential campaign today while Democrats wondered if Civil Rights would split their party again.

The top contenders for Republican nomination—Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower—were at sharp odds over the amount needed to finance assistance abroad.

Slash Defended
Eisenhower, in a cable from Paris to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, said a one-billion-dollar cut already proposed in Congress would hurt. Any deeper slice off the $7,900,000,000 asked by President Truman would endanger the nation's security, he said.

Taft promptly replied that even a slash of two billions would not impair the program or U. S. security. After telling this to reporters, Taft said in a Hartford, Conn., speech: "I don't think the American people ought to run the world (or would be good at it if they tried)."

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had asked Eisenhower's views. He released their message exchange yesterday after Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, who seeks the Democratic nomination as President, cabled Eisenhower. Russell wanted to know if the general thought $6,900,000,000 approved by Connally's committee would cover the cost of European defenses.

Hope For Compromise
President Truman told his news conference yesterday he has not budged in support of the Civil Rights plank adopted four years ago by the Democratic party. The resultant Southern revolt then cost Truman 39 electoral votes in the 1948 Presidential race. Key Southern lawmakers, in view of Truman's past stand, disagreed as to whether Civil Rights differences can be patched up. Sens. Burnet Maybank of South Carolina and Walter George of Georgia said they expected a compromise and a united party by general election time. Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, however, said he sees little difference between the 1948 and 1952 situations.

Boost Expected In Food Prices

By WILLIAM O. VARN
WASHINGTON — (P)—Substantial increases in food prices, ranging from one to several cents a package on a long list of items, may be approved by the government within the next few days.

Price control officials said the increases probably will apply to such things as concentrated coffee, dry cereals, crackers, canned fruits, vegetables and soups, tuna and salmon and some canned meats.

An official told a reporter some items in 33 of the 36 classes of packaged groceries covered by the food price orders may be given higher ceilings. The method and amount of boost in percentage margins for grocers now is being studied at the highest Office of Price Stabilization levels.

One official said the increases are necessary to keep grocers' earnings at a fair level. He said studies have shown that earnings before taxes, especially of chain food stores, are below levels that would entitle them to a price increase.

The margin increases under consideration would give the 12-billion-dollar-a-year grocery industry about a 1 per cent hike in dollar volume of sales.

Primarily the increase would benefit chain groups, but they also would apply to the smaller independent stores and to wholesalers. An official said no exact data is available on earnings of wholesalers but "there is some deficiency in this group of food dealers."

Judges Veto Red Quiz In Detroit

DETROIT — (P)—Wayne (Detroit) county's 18 circuit judges have turned down as "premature" a proposed investigation of Communist activities in the Detroit area by a one-man grand jury.

The investigation was proposed by Attorney General Frank G. Millard at the request of former State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, who is expected to announce shortly for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator.

Presiding Judge Ira W. Jayne, speaking for all 18 members of the bench, said the judges were unanimous in their rejection.

"We have given the matter mature deliberation," Judge Jayne said. "The policy of this bench has been to insist there be a showing of a failure or breakdown of law enforcement before granting a grand jury. There is no such showing in this petition."

Judge Jayne also said that besides being "premature," the petition did not contain "specific allegations."

In requesting a one-man grand jury, Leonard told Millard that his State Police anti-subversive squad had been collecting evidence on Communists in Michigan since its formation last year.

Lost $10,000 Found

DETROIT — (P)—A Wayne county treasurer's check for $10,000 lost more than two years ago, was found Thursday under the front seat of a state mail car. The check had been intended for payment to the state department of social welfare. Payment on it had been stopped when it was reported missing in March, 1950.

City Manager Fires Over 600 Strikers At Niagara Falls, N. Y.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(P)—More than 600 "sick" employees of the "honeymoon" city, were fired today by the city manager, under a state law prohibiting strikes by public workers.

Most of the city's 660-hourly-paid workers, seeking a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, had been reporting "sick" since Tuesday.

The city had offered them 7 cents.

Garbage collections and some other city services have been tied up.

City Manager Harold R. Cheek declared the workers were conducting an illegal strike and "all those who failed to appear for work today are no longer employees of this city."

Michigan Democrats Ready To Start Up Williams Bandwagon

By JACK I. GREEN
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(P)—Like one great big happy family, Michigan Democrats assemble here tonight for a state convention dedicated to naming Governor G. Mennen Williams their favorite son candidate for the Presidency.

The convention, opening formally in the Civic Auditorium at 11 a. m. Saturday, will elect 88 delegates and alternates to the party's national convention in Chicago.

Governor Is Boss
If there is any semblance of inter-party strife it has been well hidden and will not be permitted to mar the well-controlled operation of the state gathering, completely under the domination of the Williams administration.

The favorite son support for Williams will range from those who merely wish to pay their leader a compliment to those enthusiasts who believe the governor may be the subject of a national draft move.

Williams' supporters report that leaders in at least eight states have shown a tendency to get on the Williams bandwagon if he will but pick up the reins.

Looking Ahead
No one expects him to do that, however. He seems to be content.

Peninsula Gets Economic Study

LANSING—(P)—Major state departments today had pledged their assistance to a full-scale study of the Upper Peninsula being conducted for the State Department of Economic Development.

At a meeting with William F. Rooney, management consultant for Ebasco Services of New York, who is directing the study, department heads agreed to turn over all their independent studies of various phases of Upper Peninsula life.

Rooney said he plans to gather all this material together to avoid duplication of work already done. Headed by Governor Williams, the officials represented the departments of aeronautics, agriculture, conservation, health, highway and others.

To open the study, Rooney spent last week in the Upper Peninsula, visiting 23 communities. The study is scheduled to be completed in 90 days at a cost of $20,800. Its purpose is to evaluate the region's resources, people, cultural and educational facilities, production techniques and living costs and conditions to determine the best types of business and industries suited to the region.

The money to finance the study is to be raised among businesses and industries in both Peninsulas. The committee in charge is headed by Walter Cislir, president of the Detroit Edison Co. As chairman and Arthur Grede, vice-president of the Grede Foundations of Milwaukee and Iron Mountain, as vice-chairman.

Korean Truce Stalled As Communists Await Orders From Moscow

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
MUNSAN, Korea—(P)—Deadlocked Korean truce negotiators met for only ten minutes today. A U. N. Command spokesman said the Reds probably awaited new instructions from higher up.

The 10 months old negotiations are stalled over the issue of prisoner exchange, the only major block in the path of an armistice.

After today's brief session, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, Allied spokesman, said he did not think the Communists have had an opportunity to "get new instructions." He called attention to recent statements by top officials in the U. S., Britain and Canada supporting the uncompromising U. N. Command stand that no prisoners will be forced to return to Red rule against their will.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il again demanded unconditional return of Red prisoners in Allied hands and rejected the U. N. proposal to return only those who would go voluntarily.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. delegate, replied: "The firmness and finality of the United Nations Command position should be unmistakably clear to you by this time. I have nothing else to say."

They agreed to meet again tomorrow in Panmunjom at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Friday EST).

Nam has made no mention of the seizure of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd by Communist prisoners in the Allied stockade on Kojima Island. But he spoke of "heroic resistance" of Communist prisoners to what he called Allied coercion to deny them "unconditional repatriation."

The U. N. has informed the Reds that only 70,000 of 169,000 Red captives held want to return to the Communists. The Reds demand that the Allies return 132,000. They have agreed to permit the remainder—mostly South Koreans impressed into the Red army, or civilian internees, to remain in South Korea.

Bigger Veteran Benefits Voted

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two compromise bills boosting veterans' benefits, payments an estimated 202 million dollars annually were passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

Passage was by voice vote. The bills previously had been approved by both the Senate and the House, but differences resulted in the compromise version.

The increased benefits are intended to partly offset hikes in the cost of living.

One bill, estimated to cost $158,660,000 during the next year, calls for a 15 per cent increase in service-connected disability compensation for veterans of all wars rated at 50 per cent or more disabled, and a five per cent increase for veterans with disabilities rated from 10 to 49 per cent.

It also provides for 15 per cent increase in compensation for widows with children. If their husbands died of service-connected injuries.

State police reported that Mrs. Ellen Hayes, 36, of Simar, died last night in an Ontonagon hospital. Mrs. Hayes, who was working at a gasoline station, was beaten, robbed and left trussed in wire.

Police are holding James Spitzer, 25, an escapee from the Porcupine Mountain Conservation camp, an honor branch of the Marquette prison.

Spitzer was discovered missing at the Wednesday morning check-up of the camp. He was recaptured late the same day at Bruce's Crossing by state police.

Spitzer, sentenced from Wayne county to six months to five years for auto theft, has steadfastly denied assaulting the murder victim.

State police said detectives from the Wakefield post are bringing down fingerprints taken at the gasoline station and the woman's bloodied clothing for laboratory analysis at the East Lansing headquarters.

Driver Killed By C&NW Train

Norman Waisanen, 34, of Bagley, was killed instantly and his automobile was demolished when it was rammed by southbound passenger Train No. 162 of the Chicago & North Western Railway at 9:37 p. m. Wednesday on a private road crossing near Bagley. The car was carried 1,800 feet along the track by the steam locomotive which was traveling 57 miles an hour at the time.

Waisanen was alone in the car, which apparently was in the center of the rails when struck amidst ships by the locomotive. The impact was so severe, the car was wrapped around the locomotive pilot (cow-catcher) and carried 1,800 feet before Engineer J. Lewis Buchholtz stopped the train. The right side of Waisanen's head and body was badly crushed. His body was not pitched out of the car.

Buchholtz and Fireman Axel Anderson, both of Escanaba, reported to Sheriff Edward J. Reindl and his deputies that they did not observe any lights on the Waisanen car, although visibility was good despite light rainfall. The train was in charge of Conductor Robert O'Donnell of Escanaba.

Train Held
The train was held up more than an hour while Reindl and his deputies assisted the train crew in plying the car loose from the locomotive. The car was chained to the rails, a garage wrecker put a tow chain on one side and another was attached to the locomotive on the other side. It took four attempts by the locomotive, pulling in reverse, to jar the anchored car loose from its attachment to the locomotive.

The accident occurred off old US-41, which parallels new US-41 about 300 feet to the west. The crossing where Waisanen was killed is on a private road maintained by Waisanen's father, Abraham Waisanen, to give access to his farm, which is situated a short distance west of the railroad tracks. Waisanen was traveling west from old US-41 which is about 150 feet from the tracks. The decedent worked with his father on the family farm.

Millage Rate Set; Deficits Expected

A 1953 tax levy millage rate of 7.5 for the county and 7.5 for the schools was fixed by the County Tax Allocation Board in meeting last night, keeping unchanged the rate set last year for 1952.

A tentative allocation of 7.5 for schools, 7.4 for the county and .1 mill for the municipalities set in the last meeting was modified last night to an equal division of the allowed 15 mills after it was learned that the .1 mill was no longer to be mandatorily relegated to the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone and the village of Garden.

Deletion of the required allocation of .1 mill to the municipalities was authorized, according to a letter from the Municipal Finance Committee of Escanaba read by County Clerk Mary Constantineau, by Act 87 passed by a recent legislative session and approved by the governor.

The .1 mill was therefore shown to be available to either the schools or the county in the 1953 allocation.

Attending last night's meeting were Chairman H. J. Skogquist and Commissioners Edward Cox, Guy W. Knutson, Ann S. Villeneuve, C. Gust Peterson, and Hagle Quarnstrom.

County Anticipates Deficit
In discussion before setting a permanent allocation, Commissioner Villeneuve pointed out that the tentative rate of 7.4 mills for county administration would fall far short of the 1953 needs of the county and that even 7.5 mills would bring an estimated deficit of $42,125.62 at the end of the fiscal year.

The possibility of establishing a rate of eight mills for the county was discussed, with Commissioner Knutson showing that this raise, although it would not eliminate an expected deficit, would cut the deficit by about $14,000.

A fund shortage in the county treasury could be matched by one in that of the schools, it was pointed out by Commissioner C. Gust Peterson, representative of the city school board of education.

The schools are also anticipating a deficit, of approximately $39,000, under the tentative millage of 7.5 proposed for them, he said.

A raise of .5 mills for the county, Knutson continued, would mean an addition of approximately $14,000 in the county coffers, whereas the loss of the .5 mills by the schools would result in roughly a $7,000 decrease.

Carried 4 to 2
It was a matter of determining to whom that .5 mills meant the most, he concluded.

After further discussion Peterson moved that the permanent rate of 7.5 for schools and 7.5 for the county be established by the board, Commissioner Quarnstrom, county superintendent of schools, supporting the proposal.

The motion was carried by a vote of four to two, Peterson, Quarnstrom, Skogquist and Cox registering affirmatively and Knutson and Villeneuve entering negatives.

Realigning Judicial Districts Is Better Than Splitting 25th

THE veto by Governor Williams of a bill to split the 25th judicial district and to create a new judgeship for Menominee, Iron and Dickinson Counties is a good move, even conceding that the present workload of Judge Glenn W. Jackson is excessive.

In his veto message, Gov. Williams said that he would ask the State Bar of Michigan to propose a realignment of the judicial districts in the entire state. This is a much better solution to the problem.

By realignment, it will be possible to more equitably distribute the judicial load, perhaps without creating additional expense. In any case, solution of a small part of the problem as the bill that Governor Williams vetoed would provide is not a satisfactory solution.

Among those who have vigorously opposed the bill are Former Judge Bell of

Is This Hawaiian Progress? Phooey

THE island of Molokai, in the Hawaiian Islands, is trying to come to terms with the age of jet planes, rockets and lightning communications.

For years the citizens of Molokai have been resisting some of these advances, even while taking advantage of them. But now the yare under some pressure to go along with some of the impersonal features or their local merchants.

Specifically, they are being urged to use numbers when they telephone their friends or their local merchants.

Apparently all you have to do in Molokai to get results is pick up the phone and say: "Lemme talk to Joe Mallao." This is friendly, to be sure, but it puts the burden of looking up the number on the operator, and slows down the use of the facilities.

So friendliness is being asked to yield a point to efficiency. Thus even in Molokai, we accommodate ourselves to progress.

A—Picasso's well-known painting, "La Nicotie," shows simultaneously the profile and full face of a woman.

Q—Where was the original home of the rubber industry?
A—The Amazon River Valley of Brazil. Rubber seeds, smuggled through a rigid Brazilian embargo, started the great Far Eastern rubber industry.

Q—What is a verger?
A—A sword or mace bearer; also an official who has the care of the interior of an English cathedral.

Q—Is it true that if squirrels gather a large supply of nuts in autumn, a long, cold winter will follow?
A—There is no evidence that this is true.

Q—Does an elephant gallop when it charges?
A—When an elephant charges, it walks with high speed, making a gait something like a run, but it never gallops. Its speed is at the rate of 100 yards in 10 or 11 seconds.

The Doctor Says... Adhesion Can Cause Troubles After Forming In Intestines

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

"Adhesions" often receive the blame for all kinds of pains and other symptoms for which no other cause can be found. In doing this people usually have only a vague idea of what adhesions are and what they can do.

Adhesions are made up of tissue much like that of an ordinary scar on the skin. Under the microscope adhesions appear as slightly elastic fibers. This is called fibrous tissue and the body tends to respond to any infection or injury by forming it. This response is not related to the particular nature of the damage but is merely one of nature's attempts to heal injury.

As an example of adhesion formation, if a patient has acute appendicitis and the appendix has ruptured, spilling the infection into the surrounding tissue, adhesions will often form. The same is true of many other internal infections.

The adhesions, thus formed, may or may not produce complications later on. The fibrous tissue has a tendency to contract; thus if adhesions have formed around a loop of the intestines, they may draw tighter and tighter, thus preventing the free flow of intestinal contents. This, in turn, can produce symptoms and may require an operation to cut these bands of fibrous tissue and free the partly strangled intestine.

What to do for adhesions depends on where the adhesions are located, what normal structures of the body they surround, and what this contraction is doing to the organs involved.

Mrs. P. asks some specific questions about adhesions: "Can they be cured without operation?" The answer to this is no, but as indicated, they need not always be operated on unless they are producing symptoms. She also asks whether adhesions will turn into cancer. The answer to this question also is no, but the physician should always attempt to make certain that any symptoms occurring are truly the result of adhesions and not of cancer in the same vicinity.

ADHESIONS MAY REAPPEAR

Some people tend to develop adhesions much more easily than others. This raises a difficult problem because in such people new adhesions are likely to form even after the old ones have been cut or removed. However, surgical methods are so good now that the number of recurrences of adhesions is greatly decreased.

Anyone can see that pinning the blame on adhesions is likely to be difficult. Sometimes it can be done only at operation when the region under suspicion comes under the eyes of the surgeon.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — General Eisenhower has decided not to follow the precedent of Wendell Willkie toward the oil barons of Texas, including fabulously wealthy Roy Cullen.

When Willkie toured Texas during his 1940 presidential campaign, he was warned in advance to be especially nice to Cullen. The big oilman, Willkie was advised, was good for heavy campaign contributions.

However, Willkie, either forgetting or ignoring this advice, shook hands with Cullen rather casually when he got to Dallas, did not single him out for special attention. Later, when told that he had slighted the big oilman, Willkie observed: "You know, the good Lord put all this oil in the ground, then someone comes along who hasn't been a success at doing anything else, and takes it out of the ground. The minute he does that," observed Willkie, "he considers himself an expert on everything from politics to petticoats."

IKE REVERSES WILLKIE

Friends of politically green Ike Eisenhower are seeing to it that he doesn't make the same faux pas. That's why the hands of Texas oilman Roy Cullen and Sid Richardson are seen in the letter Ike has written to Jack Porter of Houston putting himself on record in favor of the oilmen in regard to tidelands oil.

The fact that Eisenhower, after refusing to take a position on any other domestic question, and after letting it be known he would make almost no speeches before the Chicago convention in July, finally takes a position on tidelands oil, is no accident.

It was arranged first by Sid Richardson, who took a special trip to Paris for the purpose. Second, it was calculated to win the support of Roy Cullen. For Jack Porter, to whom Ike wrote the letter, long has been Cullen's henchman and political messenger. Cullen has sent Porter to Washington from time to time to keep an eye on the 27½ per cent oil-depletion tax allowance which sets oilmen apart from others so favorably when it comes to figuring out their income taxes.

Porter also dumped $5,000 into the Joe McCarthy campaign to defeat Senator Tydings in Maryland, who was a strong supporter of Ike's policies, while McCarthy has been a bitter opponent of Ike's. Five thousand dollars is a lot of money for a Texan to send all the way to Maryland, and a lot of people are wondering why; and whether some of it might have come from Cullen.

Porter also is close to ex-Speaker Joe Martin, a potent backer of General MacArthur, and no friend of Eisenhower's. Porter even tells friends that he had $50,000 available from Cullen to help Martin during the 1948 convention in case of a deadlock and a chance to nominate Joe.

These are some of the things that Eisenhower undoubtedly didn't know when he wrote the tidelands "Dear Jack" letter to Jack Porter.

"A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE"

Eisenhower did know, however, something about the battle between two Texas politicians—Porter and Henry Zweifel—to become Republican national committeemen. For, in the fall of 1950, he remarked to GOP friends that if Porter were made GOP national committeeman from Texas, he, Ike, would get the Texas delegation in 1952. Ike even said that he was going to talk to Helen Reid, publisher of the New York Herald Tribune and a potent force in GOP politics, about speaking to Guy Gabrielson in order to help get Porter the job.

In the end, Porter was defeated. Zweifel got the committee post.

Undoubtedly it was to strengthen Porter's hand in Texas that the "Dear Jack" letter, taking a position on tidelands oil, was sent him. However, that letter is being scrutinized by politicians from coast to coast, as an indication of how the general will handle local leaders if and when he finally takes off the uniform.

Judging from the "Dear Jack" letter, their conclusion is that a little political knowledge is a dangerous thing.

Violent Spirit Of Subhas Bose Stirs Indians Of Restless India

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent
CALCUTTA, India (NEA)—The violent spirit of a man dead seven years has returned to stir the minds of millions in this giant, restless nation.

The man was Subhas Chandra Bose, a leader of Indian opposition to British rule, who went over to the Axis powers in World War II, and who died in the crash of a Japanese plane carrying him to safety in 1945.

The brilliant, British educated fighter for India's place in the sun lived and died during World War II in a storybook manner which appeals strongly to many Indians still favoring an aggressive Indian nationalism.

The British arrested Bose at the outbreak of the war, but he was released on a sort of parole after he went on a hunger strike. In 1941, he gave the British the slip and turned up in Berlin.

When the British crown colony of Singapore fell to the Japanese, Bose left Germany in a Nazi submarine. He arrived in Singapore early in 1943, after a hazardous three-month trip, and immediately took command of all Indian troops captured on the island. Soon he had welded them into an army of seven or eight divisions.

These troops, fighting under the flag of the Free India Government which Bose had proclaimed, and which Germany, Italy, and Japan promptly recognized, invaded Indian soil with the cry "On to Delhi!"

But the tide of war changed—it was the beginning of the end for the Japanese — and Bose's army retreated out of India, sick, ragged and living largely on grass.

Three days after the Japanese surrendered, the Nip plane carrying Bose to Japan to escape British capture crashed in Formosa. Bose's body was cremated by the Japanese and his ashes are enshrined in a temple in Tokyo.

Today, the memory of Bose inspires a fiery and almost religious fervor in the heart of millions of Indians who, like Bose, believe that the path of India should be along forceful lines.

Many of these millions believe their fabulous leader didn't die

Da Vinci, Inventor And Artist, Was Unsurpassed

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The world of art and science is observing this year the 500th anniversary of the birth of one of history's true geniuses, Leonardo Da Vinci.

The great Leonardo, born April 15, 1452, is perhaps the perfect example of the many sided man of the Renaissance, says the National Geographic Society. In a period that produced some of the finest painting and sculpture the world has known, he was equalled, perhaps, but never surpassed as a painter and sculptor.

He was an architect and engineer whose daring original designs were hundreds of years ahead of his time. Leonardo visualized and built mechanical devices in the late 15th and early 16th centuries that are the wonders of the 20th century. He understood what is considered the modern science of streamlining, and he was an early master of the laws of aerodynamics.

Would Have Flown

Scientists studying Leonardo's drawings say that, given modern motive power, his flying machines would have been successful. Self-igniting fire bombs devastated wide areas in World War II. Leonardo proposed their use 450 years ago.

Permanent fortifications built during the war embodied principles and designs put on paper by the great Italian. The extension ladders used on modern fire trucks had their forerunners in scaling ladders he designed for assault on walled towns.

In the field of art, few, of Leonardo's superb paintings remain. Most famous are the Last Supper in the refectory of Santa Maria delle Grazie at Milan, the Mona Lisa in the Louvre at Paris, and two versions of the Virgin of the Rocks, one in the Louvre and the other in London's National Gallery.

Leonardo was not content with the perfection of line and detail that other artists of the Renaissance achieved. As fine a craftsman in this particular as any of his contemporaries, he went a step further, pioneering in reproduction of light and shadow in paintings. His works show perspective his predecessors were unable to achieve.

Aside from his paintings, Leonardo's superb artistry is preserved in numerous drawings of heads, hands or figures, done in silverpoint or chalk. Many of these were made for paintings never completed. Others are evident in work that has been preserved.

Leonardo's interest in botany and biology may well have come from his desire for perfection in painting and sculpture. His drawings of muscular structure can be used in anatomy classes today, and he correctly analyzed, and illustrated, the mechanics of the human heart.

Knowledge of Nature

His drawings of plants, particularly flowers, demonstrate a deep knowledge of nature—their beautiful flowing lines and exquisite detail seem almost alive.

Aside from his flying machines and ladders, a few of his inventions include an excavator similar to today's cranes and draglines, a flying spindle such as is still used for winding of bobbins in the textile industry, multiple-barrel guns that forecast the machine gun, and breech-loading cannon designed hundreds of years before muzzle loaders were discarded.

Leonardo was born near Florence, and most of his great work was done in Florence and Milan, but he ended his years in the service of the King of France. He died in 1519 at Amboise in the Loire valley.

BACK OF THE STORY—Considerable publicity was given throughout Michigan to House Bill 195, signed by Gov. Williams on April 3, which prohibits the careless use of firearms and establishes stiff penalties for violations.

Back of that story is a personality well known to the people of this area—Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone.

Judge Gladstone directed attention to the inadequacy of Michigan law in dealing with careless hunters when three Marquette men were brought into his court. These hunters had last fall fired on and wounded two young brothers, five and 13 years of age, while they played in a field near the main highway.

The hunters said they mistook the boys for deer.

WHERE CREDIT IS DUE—The bill was introduced by four Upper Peninsula representatives in the Michigan Legislature. They are Rep. Einar Erlandsen of Escanaba, Rep. Alvin Richard of Marquette, Rep. James Goulette of Iron Mountain, and Rep. Louis Mezzano of Ironwood.

"This is really Judge Jackson's bill," said Rep. Erlandsen. "It was drafted by him and all we did was introduce it."

Rep. Erlandsen sincerely believes that Judge Jackson should receive credit for his interest in the matter and his assistance in drafting a bill that went before the Legislature and was approved practically without change.

WHAT IT DOES—The bill, designed to reduce hunting accidents, provides for a fine up to $2,000, or a prison term up to two years for wounding or killing a person through the careless, reckless or negligent use of guns.

The new act also sets up penalties for destruction of property through the careless use of firearms. If the damage is greater than $50, the guilty shooter could draw a year in jail and a fine up to $500.

The new law plugs a loophole that previously permitted some persons to escape unpunished for their careless handling of firearms.

NEED IS HERE—Last fall in Michigan 23 persons were killed and 200 were injured in gun accidents.

Not all of these deaths and injuries resulted from careless use of firearms. But a considerable number were caused by carelessness—and only a few of the reckless hunters were brought to justice.

There is a difference between prosecuting an individual for careless use of firearms and bringing him to court on a charge of negligent homicide (in event of death) or assault with a deadly weapon when the victim is injured.

Carelessness means just what it says and it is not necessary for the state to prove negligence on the one hand or intent on the other.

COMPLIMENT SPONSORS — Upon signing the bill, Gov. Williams said: "I want to compliment the sponsors of this particular bill for two reasons. First, it was in the Upper Peninsula that some of the most flagrant acts occurred that required this bill. Second, this legislation is good for the state and the sportsmen in it."

The governor then went a step beyond the point of credit where credit is due and added: "I hope this is the first part of the conservation program I recommended after a conference with sportsmen's groups, to become part of the law of Michigan."

Perhaps the governor was misinformed as to the true source of House Bill 195. It is possible he believes, as Michigan United Conservation Clubs claim in connection with the new law, that "Sportsmen's groups have been working for years to cut down hunting accidents in our woods and fields. Perhaps this is the first big step in Michigan."

Judge Jackson, author of the bill, is a modest jurist who cares little for credits. The new law that implements action against the careless gun handler fills a long-felt need. That is enough.

QUESTIONS THE READERS ASK

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Please settle an argument. My husband insists that a friend, who is chairman of the board of a certain home for old people, fills that position as an 'avocation.' I disagree. To my notion an 'avocation' is a hobby, like stamp collecting or wood carving. 'Philanthropy' seems a better word."—Mrs. H. B. B.

Answer.—All bets should be called off. An "avocation" may be either a hobby, an occupation to divert the mind, or it may be a business or occupation different from and of lesser importance than one's regular business or occupation. The friend may be and probably is a philanthropist too, but an occupation or pursuit that calls him away from his regular occupation—may properly be termed as "avocation" (Latin "ab," away, and "voco," call).

Mrs. J. F. C., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.—"Come Sunday," meaning "when Sunday shall come," is a firmly established idiom. Those who use "come" in that manner, with a future date following as a subject—as, "Come August, she'll be fourteen"—have such writers as Shakespeare, Southey and Longfellow to support them.

B. M. F., Mt. Dora, Fla.—The small tree lizard, which is able to change its color at will, usually taking on the color of its background, has the name "chameleon" (kuk-MEE-li-un or kuh-MEEL-yun). It is a Greek name, from "chamai," dwarf, and "leon," which means lion, but also refers to a kind of serpent.

baby's-breath: The name of this airy plant was suggested by its blossom. The plant itself is graceful, though its foliage is not conspicuous. Its stalks have many delicate branches which, in the flowering season, bear numerous tiny blossoms. These give the effect of the small mist seen, when the evening is cool, in the breath of a baby.

Texas Is Great Country---Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK
HOUSTON, Tex. — This turns out to be a pretty exciting country, and there is still some room in it for a growing boy to flex his muscles. I just paused briefly in some towns named Midland and Odessa, where the gold fever is still on, and the citizens are caught up in as much excitement as the '49ers felt.

Midland and Odessa are in the center of the oil boom. It is dreary land, but the people palpitate. There is probably more money made, and more money spent in this locality, than was fired in the breeze in the gold-rush days. There is also the same sense of impermanence—that the greasy gush can't go on forever, despite the 200-plus drilling-tool companies that flourish, despite the weird combination of mink-coat-and-dungarees aristocracy.

If you sit back east long enough, you are apt to get a little bit blasé about the potential of this land, and maybe you compute everything in terms of the latest snide doings in Washington. If you rattle around outside New York and Washington long enough, you can drop some of the despair that afflicts us as we pursue the headlines.

Unconquered Frontiers

In many a way the country is still unharmed. What Grandpa knew about is still here; many things that Grandpa didn't know about have been added. We have the roads where Grandpa didn't have any roads at all; we have the big iron birds to conquer, the spaces which Grandpa fought bitterly with a horse.

There is water where no water flowed before, and there will be more water where it was always needed. And there is still an aristocracy of accomplishment. The final frontiers have not yet been conquered.

I do not fully understand oil, but I know that it represents an adventure. There are emigrations from the east—third-generation rich kids from Philadelphia are trying their luck at finding it. And there is still scorn for old stagers who will not corrupt their land by a search of the oil on it. In the gold-crazy days there were people who were still content to work the soil for what it would grow instead of what was hidden beneath it.

In the places where oil bubbles richly beneath the ground, we are showing up brand-new cities, which mushroom as rapidly as the shanty towns that sprung up in the Klondike. With the cities come modern advantages—schools, clinics, even the curse of television. We are still pioneering today, still betting a million, and I like the idea.

Wonderful Country

There are all sorts of challenges for you to tackle, everywhere you turn. We still have over 100,000 Navajos in New Mexico and Arizona to challenge our knack for dealing with the difficult. The ARIA ARTIST—Billy the Baboon gives out with a long, high note, (or maybe he's yawning), at the zoo in Silver Springs, Fla. Whether singing or sighing, Billy certainly is protesting at the number of funny-looking humans he must view from his cage each day.

Lake Michigan Rises; Still Under 1886 Mark

LANSING — (P)—It's no news to dwellers along the Great Lakes, but the U. S. lake survey confirmed that levels pose in April.

In fact, Lakes Erie and Ontario went to new high levels for the month. Lake Erie stands 36 feet above the previous April high in 1862. Lake Ontario is .37 feet above the April record set in 1886. Lakes Michigan and Huron rose .48 feet over March but were 1.08 feet below the April high in 1886. Lake Superior rose .06 feet over March but was .26 feet below the April record high set last year.

problem of the Navajo has not changed, despite all our wild, sophisticated spendings. The problem with the Indian is still that of the age-old nomad—not enough running water, insufficient rain, overgrazed pastures for transient herds. We haven't even touched it yet, toward a practical solution.

There is an open-handed interdependence out here that hasn't changed a whit since the wild-and-wooly days. I know a country doctor who makes $100,000 a year. If he needs a rare-blood type, he can get on the local radio and ask for it, and within an hour 300 candidates will show up with their arms bared for the needle. This doctor drives a Cadillac, but he still works from 6 a. m. until midnight just like his Grandpa did.

It is heartening country, and it is good country, and, apart from the meddlings of a few petty little men in elected office, it is still wonderful country. And I do not think that all the vainglorious stupidities of the people we choose to guide us can wreck it, in this year or the next 100 years. There's too much of it, with too many solid people in it.

Manistique Girl Tells Of Flight In Germany After Red Jet Attack

Miss Helen McLaughlin, formerly of Manistique, who flew out of Berlin April 29 less than two hours after an Air France commercial plane was attacked by two Soviet MIG15 fighter planes on a flight across the Soviet Zone from Frankfurt to Berlin, has written an account of her experience to her sister, Mrs. L. A. Danielson, 202 South Third street. Miss McLaughlin, a Department of State press officer in Germany, had been in Berlin to attend the third annual congress of the International Federation of Free Journalists.

Her description of the scene at Tempelhof Airfield after the disabled airplane had landed safely and her own flight into the danger of a repeated attack follows:

I came into the terminal at Tempelhof yesterday at exactly noon to check in for the one o'clock flight to Frankfurt. My driver took my bag and brief case to the weighing-in counter and I went over to the desk to report my arrival. A German woman typing at the rear of the enclosure was the only one there. She came up to the counter.

"I have a reservation on the one o'clock plane to Frankfurt," I said. "I'm Miss McLaughlin."
"Your flight has been delayed, Miss McLaughlin."
"What's the matter, engine trouble?"
"No."

"It can't be the weather; it's a lovely day."
"No, it isn't the weather,"

French Plane on Strip

I knew something was wrong, and also that she wasn't allowed to give information so I turned to look for someone who could. It was then I saw the big Air France Skymaster on the landing strip. It was too far away for me to see anything but the plane itself and the crowd milling around. As I stood there, two photographers dashed out of the terminal and ran over to it.

A young military police lieutenant joined me at the window.

"What's up?" I asked him.
"Haven't you heard? That plane was just attacked by a couple of Soviet fighters."
"Anyone hurt?"

"Yes. A man and a woman badly hurt, and one of the crewmen. They've just taken them to the dispensary downstairs. I understand all other flights have been called off."

As we watched, the big ship was towed to a hangar. We could see the holes then, a big one in the tail and another under the left wing. It's a miracle the plane didn't explode.

They're starting early for May Day, I thought.

Berlin has been tense for days with the approach of May Day—the European Labor Day—which is marked by huge demonstrations in both west and east sectors. I went into the east sector Sunday; the flags were already up and pictures of Stalin, Pieck et al were plastered all over with slogans in German harping on "peace." With the advent of contractual agreements drawing nearer, the Communists have been stepping up their campaign against West Germany's integration into the western family. Saturday (the 27th) a crowd of 10,000 young Communists poured into the west sector rioting and shouting "Ami go home."

Decide to Fly

Monday night I had been in the Berlin Press Club with Tom Reedy AP correspondent, Joe Fleming of UP, and Norbert Ehrenfreund of Stars and Stripes, and we talked about what May Day might bring this year. None of us imagined that something far more serious than a Communist riot was to happen the very next day.

One o'clock came and went. I had just decided to leave when, at 1:10, our flight was announced. The passengers—a U. S. naval commander, two German businessmen, a young German student and I—were summoned to the desk, all of us a bit edgy. "The pilot wants to talk to you before the flight," the man in charge said.

We went to the rear. The pilot, a tall, bronzed air force captain, told us: "I'm going out through the central corridor. It's up to you if you want to come with me. You'll have a bumpy ride; I'm going to fly well above the clouds all the way."

"Have the Soviets given an answer yet?" I asked him.

"Not that I know of."

"Then we have no assurance that it won't happen again?"

"That's right."

The decision had to be made quickly. Maybe I'd better take the train, I thought; it's much too nice a day to die. But then "the coward dies a thousand deaths . . ." I said I'd go; so did the others.

The pilot, co-pilot and I chatted for a few minutes after the other passengers dispersed.

"I think it's a little soon to go up, don't you?" I said.

The pilot nodded. "We may be a test—to see if they'll do it again."

"I'm not sure I like being a guinea pig."

He laughed and pointed to an air force plane just leaving the ground. "He's the guinea pig; he's our diversionary."

The MP lieutenant came over to me to say good-bye. "I'll call you when I come to Frankfurt."

"I hope I'm there to answer the phone," I replied, and went out to get aboard.

We were over the Soviet Zone for about 40 minutes, and they were the longest 40 minutes I have ever known. All of us were watching for the glint of sun on a MIG's wing. If they try it again, they'll try for a kill, I thought, and then pieces of me will be scattered all over the nice green countryside. Oh, my family and oh, my friends . . . Just before two o'clock, the radio operator came into the cabin. "In three minutes we'll be out of the corridor," he said. Everyone took a deep breath and relaxed.

Later the pilot came out and perched on the arm of the empty seat ahead of me.

"Were you scared?" he asked.

"Not much, a little bit."

We had passed directly over an airfield on which 22 MIGs were lined up, he told me, and at one point ground fire had followed us across the sky.

"We were out of range, weren't we?" I said.

"No my dear, we were not."

It seems that the ground firing happens often when non-Communist planes go over, but it's sort of a perverted joke since they don't aim at the aircraft. "It gives them practice and makes the pilots nervous," he said.

"How I hate to go back up there tonight."

"Why don't you develop a tummy ache?" I suggested.

"Because I have to fly all day tomorrow, too."

An hour later we had reached the lovely broad ribbon of the Rhine, and landed at Wahn airport near Cologne. Two of the passengers left us there. We then took off for Rhine-Main airbase at Frankfurt, and at last, about 4:20 we were down. The pilot and I walked into the terminal together. "Want to go back with me?" said he.

"No thanks."

We passed a big four-motored

ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

It makes each drop of gas say uncle

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

It happens in a Buick Fireball 8 Engine today. It's a high-compression engine. It's a valve-in-head engine. But it's also a Fireball in performance as well as name.

And it puts extra power under the hood—and extra miles in the fuel back in the gas tank.

Now, power is great, but what goes with it?

Heavy Walleye Spawn Indicated

With the May 21 opening of the walleye and northern pike season on Big Bay de Noc rapidly approaching, sport fishermen are wondering whether this season will see a revival of the phenomenal fishing they enjoyed back in 1948 and 1949.

They are already talking about how they could go out and get their limit of five walleyed pike within an hour or so of trolling. Beginning with the 1950 season, however, the catches became smaller and harder to get.

But sport fishermen are again optimistic in Nahma. During the last several nights in April thousands of walleyes, could be seen spawning along shore at Stony Point, near the outskirts of Nahma. This welcome sight has buoyed the hopes of those who plan to go trolling in Big Bay de Noc on and after May 21.

Natives prefer fishing for the walleye because of its superior, perch-like taste. There's plenty of good fishing for the scrappy northern pike, however, in Ogontz Bay, a few miles west of Nahma, in Moss Lake, six miles to the northeast, and, of course, in Little Bay de Noc. The daily catch of walleyes and northers is five, singly or combined. Minimum sizes allowed are 13 and 14 inches, respectively.

In trolling for walleyes, fishermen usually use a Junebug spinner with worms, or the well-known Flatfish lure, either the yellow or orange X-4.

Walleyed pike fishermen have several favorite spots on Big and Little Bays de Noc.

During the first six or seven weeks, walleyes are caught not far off shore, but must be sought in deeper waters after the warmer summer season arrives. Best fishing appears to be in the early evening when they come to the shallow waters to feed.

Tech Students Win Fellowships

HOUGHTON—Michigan Tech has again claimed the lion's share of fellowships granted by the Argonne National Laboratories at Chicago as part of the Federal Atomic research program. Of the 13 research fellowships to be awarded this year, six will go to Michigan Tech students. The rest of the fellowships will go to outstanding graduates of some of the other 30 colleges and universities in the midwest which are participants in the atomic research program.

Last year Michigan Tech students claimed four of the coveted fellowships, followed by the University of Chicago, which placed three.

The research fellowships are awarded to college graduates. Fellowship winners become members of the Argonne Laboratories' research staff and work concurrently on their masters' degrees, granted at the end of their year's fellowship by the participating college.

In addition to the opportunity of working with some of the nation's prominent atomic scientists, stipend winners receive a stipend of approximately $3900.

Dr. Henry L. Coles, head of Michigan Tech's department of chemistry and chemical engineering, is a member of the federal atomic research council at Argonne.

Three Michigan Tech students have received confirmation of their fellowship awards. They are Richard Culp, of Monroe, Jack B. Reynolds, of Clio and John Engelke, of Cristobal, Canal Zone. The remaining three fellowships assigned to Michigan Tech have not yet been committed.

Caution Urged For Fishermen

The unusually hot and dry spring season brought major emphasis on three important points:

- 1—Devastating fires continue to be a possibility regardless of the efficiency of any organization that may be set up to cope with them.
- 2—Trout fishing is of enormous interest to people of surrounding states as well as to those in this state.
- 3—Immediate personal problems are of a lot more interest to many people than the future general welfare.

The Fire Threat

Neither city nor forest can be definitely assured against major fire losses. Any fire fighting system is geared to handle a problem up to a point and cannot be stretched beyond that. Should much of a city suddenly burst into flames the best of fire fighting organizations would be helpless. Conditions can make so many forest fires possible that available men and equipment cannot be spread to cover all of them. Public cooperation is a necessity everywhere. A thousand men intent on burning a city or a forest would probably meet with spectacular success regardless of any organized protection effort. Results might be as disastrous where there are that many careless individuals at large. And forests foster carelessness because in most cases they do not belong to the individuals using them.

There is no way of tabulating the total of trout fishermen but there are thousands of them out over the streams and most people smoke. Probably no other group carries as high a level of civic consciousness out in any group of this size there are certain to be a few thousand thoughtless individuals. And if conditions are sufficiently hazardous, a hundred careless individuals might destroy a trout environment that would require millions of dollars and decades of time to replace. Year by year the old burned out trout streams are coming back. Many of them still have a long way to go and no one at this late date can complacently contemplate a prospect of making a fresh start among the blackened stumps. Working within the limits of its resources, the conservation department is setting up demonstration trout streams. A complete job calls for soil stability over the entire watershed as well as stream bed management. Cooperating groups are carrying on this work elsewhere and the generations ahead should have better trout fishing.

KNOTTY PROBLEM—How more knot-free, higher value timber can be grown by maintaining a properly stocked stand is being emphasized at state woodlot demonstrations this spring. Trees grown for timber should have "room to grow but none to spare," otherwise large branches, and hence knots, will be encouraged. Conservation department regional forester R. L. Olmstead and Francis and Randolph Hay of Bangor show product resulting when trees are too far apart, permitting enough sunlight penetration to stimulate lateral growing lower branches.

Emphasis On Sport

At any given time the fishing pattern reflects the current way of life. Trout fishing would not enjoy its present popularity were angling simply a matter of trying to get food. Here is a sport of many objectives, the least of which is to harvest meat. They fly rod is the emblem of the artist, the man who is fascinated by the streamside and its offerings. It thrives on the two-day weekend and universal vacations. It is carried by a growing army and it represents no class sport. Lakes will probably always attract most fishermen but the large waters can never offer the adventures of the babbling brooks.

The total water output of national forests in eleven western states is estimated to be approximately 60 trillion gallons a year. This is enough water to supply the city of New York for 137 years, even at the city's normal consumption rate of 1,200,000,000 gallons daily.

On one-fourth of the commercial forest lands of this country, mostly public forest lands and large industrial holdings, management is good; and on another one-fourth management is fair. But more than half of the commercial forest land is still being handled poorly or destructively.

Fishing License Sales Increase

LANSING—First 1952 tally of license agent returns, reflecting earlier and excellent opening of general and trout fishing seasons, indicates a 17 to 86 per cent faster license sales pace than last year at this time.

Latest but no where near complete reports to the conservation department show 17 per cent more or 164,909 resident licenses issued, 30 per cent more or 6,057 annual nonresident permits, and 86 per cent more or 4,792 trout stamps issued.

Retail minnow dealers total 708 or 14 per cent more and wholesalers number 99 or 22 per cent more than before.

General and trout fishing seasons opened together on April 26 this year. Last year, regular trout season started April 28 but general season anglers did not get underway until June 25.

This year's opening weekend weather was the best in years.

When a watershed is in good condition it operates for our benefit, providing a steady, fresh flow of water. The picture is different on watersheds in poor condition. When protective plant growth is lacking, the whole system of stream flow is upset. Rainwater gets rapidly into streams causing quick rises. Topsoil washes the land where it was an asset, to the streams and reservoirs where it is a liability.

High Winds Increase Forest Fire Hazard

The forest fire hazard continues to be high and strong winds have furthered endangered the wooded areas, it has been reported.

Fire that breaks out now in the period of high winds can spread rapidly and increase the problem of fire fighting.

The following fires have been reported for the week ending May 3, 1952, in the Upper Peninsula according to John A. Anguim, Fire Technician, Department of Conservation, Marquette:

District 1—Baraga, 11 fires; 34.4 acres

To date—21 fires; 62.6 acres
District 2—Crystal Falls, 37 fires; 101.5 acres

To date—84 fires; 264.4 acres
District 3—Escanaba, 15 fires; 23.8 acres

To date—53 fires; 215.2 acres
District 4—Newberry, 5 fires; 21.2 acres

To date—14 fires; 116.7 acres
Sixty-eight fires for the past week burned 180.9 acres, making a total of 172 fires to date burning 658.9 acres. For the same week last year, nine fires burned 27.2 acres with a total to date figure of 31 fires burning 99.5 acres.

Coniferous trees are especially well adapted for planting on the poor waste areas common to many farms. They grow fairly rapidly and yield heavy crops of timber. They are effective as windbreaks. Even in small sizes they may be sold at a profit as Christmas trees and in large sizes they have an assured market for lumber or pulpwood.

Jack And Norway Pine Planted In Schoolcraft County

Five thousand Jack, five thousand and Norway Pine and fifteen thousand willows are being planted along the banks of the East Branch of the Fox and the Little Fox in Schoolcraft County this week according to Art Feldhauser, in charge of lake and stream improvement work in the Upper Peninsula. A crew of nine men will handle the job.

Work on the construction of a checking weir on the Black River in Mackinac County also began. A crew of four men is expected to complete the job within two weeks. Additional improvement work will also be made on the main weir on the Black.

Tax Reverted Land Sales June 3, 4, 5

LANSING—(P)—More than 400 tax reverted land descriptions will be offered at conservation department auctions in the Upper Peninsula June 3, 4 and 5.

The sales, all beginning at 10 a. m. will be held in Iron Mountain June 3, Houghton June 4 and Manistique June 5.

It has been estimated that at least 60 million acres of privately owned forest land in the United States is in need of planting.

AS WE LIVE

You Can Win Friends With Little Initiative

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
(Q) "I am a lonely widow in a new community. I lost my husband shortly after we moved here and I realize that it is difficult to make new friends. I have gone to church but can assure you that this is not the answer. I have a nice home but the loneliness at times seems hard to accept. There should be a place where nice people could meet and make new friends."

(A) Yes, every community should have a place where newcomers could meet and make friends not only with the newcomers to the community but also with the old residents. Just going to church will not enable you to meet people. You must also belong to some of the church organizations and take an active part in their affairs.

If the church of your denomination has no social or work organizations, such as missionary societies and sewing clubs, ask your minister to let you work with him to organize such clubs. You will find other people among the members of the congregation who are in much the same boat as you and who would welcome an opportunity to join such clubs.

Then, too, there are always community organizations, such as the Red Cross and different charity organizations which badly need workers. Widows or middle aged men and women who are not tied down by families of small children spend their time working for such organizations and, through them, you should meet some congenial people.

It is always difficult to make new friends in a new community, especially when you are not young. Had your husband lived, you would have met the wives of his business associates and, through them, you would have met other members of the community.

As he is no longer here to help you to meet new people and to establish new friendships, would it not be better to consider the possibility of returning to the community where you formerly lived? There you would have old friends and relatives to fall back on and they would welcome you back into their circle because of their friendship of years with you.

A "nice" home is fine if you have someone to share it with but it can be a very lonely place if you are there all alone. Even friends would be better than nothing, if you cannot have a member of your family with you. But, as you have neither, it seems that the wisest thing is to go back to your old home.

New School To Be Discussed

Installation of officers and discussion of a proposed consolidated school in Hiawatha township will highlight a regular meeting of the Hiawatha township Parent-Teacher Association next Tuesday evening.

The meeting will be held at the Grange Hall, beginning at 8, and all members of the association are urged to be present. Construction of a new consolidated school in the township has been under consideration for some time, and definite action is expected to be taken during the summer, it is reported.

The PTA recently agreed to provide cots for the three schools now operating in the township. The cots are to be used by pupils in case of sickness.

Pot luck lunch will be served at the meeting.

Plan Hiawatha Church Survey

A canvass of Hiawatha township residents to find out if they desire church and Sunday school services has been approved by the Manistique Ministerial Association, it is announced.

Under the chairmanship of the Rev. Harold Martinson, of the Bethel Baptist Church, the survey will be conducted next Tuesday. Questionnaires to be used during the canvass have been prepared by the Rev. Reo Clyde, of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The question form will seek to determine if Hiawatha residents favor establishment of regular church services in their area and also if they prefer to have such services conducted by the American Sunday School Union, the Ministerial association, or one of the local Protestant churches which are members of the association.

Accordianist Contino Inducted Into Army

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Thirteen months ago Dick Contino fled Fort Ord, Calif., later claiming he suffered from panic claustrophobia — "I can't stand to be fenced in."

Thursday Private Dick Contino reported at Fort Ord for basic training.

The former $4,000 a week accordionist, who served four and a half months in a federal prison for draft evasion in connection with his flight, was inducted into the army yesterday.

"I'd like to entertain troops," he said. "Show business is my life. But I'm going to do what they tell me. I simply want to be a good soldier."

Former Big Ten Star Named Newberry Coach

NEWBERRY—Joseph Kodba, former Big Ten football star and backfield coach at the University of Buffalo last season, has been named new director of athletics, football and track coach and physical education teacher at Newberry High School.

Kodba succeeds Morley Fraser who resigned to accept a football coaching job at Lansing Eastern High School.

The new Indian mentor won two letters in football and baseball at Butler University. After a two-year hitch in the Army during World War II he attended Purdue University where he earned two grid letters as a first string center.

Kodba was named most valuable player by his teammates, captained Purdue against Indiana in the Old Oaken Bucket tilt in 1946, played on the North squad in the National All-Star game in Montgomery, Ala., was named to the National College All-star team by the Chicago Tribune to play against the world professional champions in 1947 at Soldiers' Field, Chicago.

Kodba coached the line at Niagara University, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and served as track coach and intramural program director from 1949 to 1951. He was backfield coach at the University of Buffalo in 1951-52.

A graduate of Washington High School, South Bend, Ind., in 1941, Kodba is 30 years old, married and has two children. He played professional football with the Buffalo Bills and the Baltimore Colts.

Harry Gafner pegged a 631 singles count to move into third place in the standings and added an all-events total of 1705, good for seventh. Augie Gafner spearheaded ninth place in all-events with 1695.

The record breaking keg tournament winds up on the Midway alleys with Saturday and Sunday bowling.

GLADSTONE—Two brothers from Escanaba provided the only change in the Upper Peninsula Bowling Association tournament standings here last night.

Both Marquette and Menominee are fielding potent track and field squads this afternoon. Marquette especially has turned in some fine early-season performances and a number of Upper Peninsula marks will be under fire here Saturday.

Menominee finished second to the strong Stephenson squad in a triangular affair at Menominee two weeks ago. Since then the Maroons have defeated Peshtigo, Wis., in a dual meet.

Marquette's outstanding performances were posted in an invitational meet involving the Maroons, Oconto Falls, Sturgeon Bay, Shawano, Bonduel, Pulaski and Seymour.

In that meet Marquette's Sandy Heath turned in a fine 53.7 440-yard dash and the relay squad moved over the half-mile in 135.7.

The host Eskymos have been working out daily in preparation for the weekend test and are expected to provide strong bids in several of the events.

Wylie, Escanaba has one meet under its belt, a defeat from the Marquette Redmen last Friday afternoon.

With Ray Crandall

T. L. Nelson of Negaunee writes to tell us that the Negaunee Tobin's Bar will be the team to watch this weekend in the U. P. keg tourney at Gladstone. "Led by the most colorful bowler in the U. P., the one and only W. E. 'Bunk' Harlan, a '700' club member, the team is composed of Pappy Ellis, Bill Hawke, Don Violette, John Van Brocklin and Painter Harris, all of whom average over 175," Nelson writes. They bowl their team event at 7 Saturday night and doubles and singles at 2 Sunday.

Gladstone was not represented at the organizational meeting of the Upper Peninsula Baseball League held Sunday in Marquette. Teams entered to date are Marquette, Munising, Ishpeming, Republic, Humboldt, Gwinn and Chatham. Negaunee is expected to round out the loop.

The Escanaba Eskymos are slugging the ball at a healthy clip thus far this baseball season. Coach Jim Rouman's Eskys, with reserves seeing action in all three games, have pounded but 36 base knocks altogether against Marquette, Negaunee and St. Joe. Jack Chriske and Fred Boddy, Esky mound staff, have allowed opponents only 13 hits in the three starts. Ishpeming will be the next Escanaba diamond foe. Athletic Director George Ruwutch announced yesterday that the game will likely be changed from Thursday to Wednesday of next week.

Ty Cobb cools off Ralph Kiner, home run slugger, in this recent statement: "Kiner is one of the highest-paid players in history. A star should be a leader and a developer. Ralph, at bat last season 531 times, did not sacrifice once, stole only two bases, drove in only 109 runs, batting .309, with 42 home runs giving him way the best of it. Say only one man was on base when he hit half his homers, or 21. So say that with his homers he drove in 63 runs. This from the 109 credited to him leaves 46 without the use of homers. So deduct the 42 times at bat in which he hit homers from his total of 531 and you have 489 times at bat with just 46 runs driven in. I am wondering where he had his bat all this time."

Pony League Meet Set Monday Night

Directors and sponsors of the Escanaba Pony League baseball organization will meet Monday evening at 7:30 at Club 314.

Final plans for sponsorship of the new league for boys 13 and 14 years of age will be made. Sponsors for four teams have been found and the directors will decide what means will be used to finance the two remaining teams which will be organized soon.

Boys of the 13-14 age group will be called soon for tryouts for the Pony League teams.

The girls are here for the third stage of the cross-country weathervane open tournament Saturday and Sunday. They will play 36 holes here, then continue to New York to wind up the 144-hole tourney.

Mrs. Zaharias is leading at the halfway mark with 288 for 72 holes, six strokes ahead of Miss Suggs.

Norman Slough Resigns As Rapid River Coach

RAPID RIVER—Resignation of Norman Slough, high school basketball and baseball coach since 1946, was announced today by the Board of Education.

Slough will remain at Rapid River High School as principal and teacher and plans to finish work on his Masters degree in high school administration at the University of Michigan this Summer.

A graduate of Manistique High School in 1938, Slough earned his degree at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, where he won 10 letters in basketball, football and track.

Set Track Record

While at Manistique he held the Upper Peninsula high school record in the 440-yard dash. He placed second in the state meet in 52.4 seconds and at Northern set a college mark of 51.6.

As a college athlete Slough won three letters as a guard in basketball, three as an end in football and four in track running the 440 and 220.

As a Northern senior he teamed up with Eddie Olds, Harold Anderson, Chauncey St. Germain and Henry Lindeman on a team which won 19 of 20 games and received a bid to play in the Kansas City Invitational tournament.

Cage Record

Slough's Rapid River Rocket cage teams have never played a losing season since he took over the reins in 1946. His overall record stands at 82 victories and 37 defeats. His best year came in 1950 when the Rockets posted 20 wins against a pair of losses.

Cleveland Pins Third Straight On Yankees

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It said here a month ago Cleveland couldn't win the pennant until they learned how to win at Yankee Stadium. Well, Bud, they seem to learn fast.

Not since 1947 had the Indians swept a series in the New York Yankees' home park until they humbled the world champs yesterday, 12-5, for a third straight.

The Yankee Stadium jinx, the Vic Raschi hex, the Eddie Lopat whammy all went out the window in this first New York-Cleveland series of the season.

Boone On Warpath

Raschi got his lumps Wednesday and Lopat hit yesterday when the Tribe's new cleanup man, Ray Boone, went on the warpath. Boone struck the big blow of the game, a three-run homer in the fifth. It hardly mattered that Cleveland poured over six runs in the ninth.

Bobby Feller was the official winning pitcher as the Tribe finished its first eastern trip with a fine 7-3 record. But Feller needed solid help from Bob Lemon. The Yanks nicked Feller for 12 hits in 5 2/3 innings. Lemon gave them only one the rest of the way—a ninth-inning home by Gene Woodling.

This crushing defeat, sinking the Yanks three games under .500 and, 5 1/2 games off the lead, came at a particularly embarrassing moment. The latest averages show Archie Wilson, one of the men sent to Washington in the Irv Noren deal, leading the league with a .481 batting average.

Five-Hitter
Winging home after this successful tour, the Indians were only 18 percentage points behind the leading Boston Red Sox. All even in the "games behind" they trailed in points because they have lost one more while winning one more.

The Chicago White Sox salvaged the finale at Boston, 4-2, on Saul Rogovin's five-hit pitching. Ed Ewart's two-run homer off loser Ray Scarborough in the seventh was the crusher, ending the White Sox's six-game losing streak.

Big Jim Rivera, the St. Louis Browns' slumping rookie flash, snapped out of it with a ninth-inning home run that beat Philadelphia, 9-8. Rivera, benched for weak hitting, got into the game just in time to make a sensational catch in the sixth.

Washington struggled 11 innings to a 4-4 deadlock with Detroit in a "suspended game" that will be completed before a May 31 night game. Play was halted after the 11th to let the Tigers catch a train for home and a date with Chicago this afternoon.

Koslo Wins
Dave Koslo continued his mastery over the St. Louis Cardinals as the New York Giants tightened the National league race with a 3-0 win. The defending champs now are only 28 percentage points behind the idle Brooklyn Dodgers. The surging Giants rushed through their first western trip with a glittering 9-1 record. They have won 13 of their last 15 games.

Stan Musial, who went hitless against Koslo last year in 17 trips, had a pair of doubles. It wasn't enough to save Gerry Staley from his first defeat after winning five in a row. Three hits by Whitey Lockman led the Giant attack.

Willard Marshall tripled with the bases loaded and singled home a fourth run in the Boston Braves' 6-4 triumph over Chicago. The loss dropped the Cubs into a third-place tie with idle Cincinnati.

The Philadelphia at Pittsburgh game was postponed because of rain and wet grounds. Brooklyn and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Yanks Miss Lefthanded Hitters, Feller Claims

NEW YORK — (AP)—Bob Feller, who has pitched against the New York Yankees more times than any active hurler, appeared to be the logical person to ask the question in most everybody's mind today.

"What's wrong with the Yankees?" The former premier pitcher in baseball, still a very effective hurler with the Cleveland Indians, didn't hesitate a moment as he replied.

"That's evident, isn't it? They don't have that left handed power any more. Sure, they miss Joe DiMaggio. But they also miss those lefthanded long ball hitters who used to murder you in Yankee Stadium. Yogi Berra, who can reach the seats, probably will help, but he is not enough."

Feller, who's been facing the Yankees on and off since 1936, excluding three and three-quarter seasons he spent in the navy, reflected for a moment and added ruefully:

"Boy, how I would like to have pitched against this Yankee team ten years ago. It's a cinch I wouldn't be behind them now."

"The trouble is, I don't know who has slipped more, the Yankees or Feller."

By being behind, Bob meant that the Yankees had beaten him more times than he has beaten them. The Yanks, only club to have an edge over him, held 33 victories over him against 29 losses.

Feller said, "the Yankees have good pitching, a fine defense and lots of speed. It's just that the team doesn't have those long ball hitters any more.

"Just look at the Yankee teams I faced in the old days. Lou Gehrig, DiMaggio, Bill Dickey, Tommy Henrich, Charlie Keller, Joe Gordon, George Selkirk, Red Rolfe and Frank Crosetti.

"Except for DiMaggio, who used to belt me pretty good, I never had too much trouble with the righthanded power hitters of the Yanks. It was those southpaws who used to murder me."

The Yankees this year have hit only six home runs in 19 games and have left exactly 165 men on bases, while losing 11 out of 19.

Davey Praises Vejar Courage

LANSING—(AP)—"Vejar threw his best punches when he came back off the canvas. I was really amazed at his recuperative powers," said Chuck Davey in commenting on his welterweight win over Chico Vejar.

Davey gave his impressions of the fight in his weekly sports program last night over Lansing station WILS.

"When I put him down in the first round, I think I got a little anxious," Davey said. "But when he was still in there by the fifth round I settled down to a steady pace."

"I figured if he went out, he went out and if he stayed, he stayed. I got very methodical after that. But I think that last knockdown took a lot of steam out of him."

Davey was asked if he thought the fight proved he could take a hard punch. A question some fight experts have been debating.

"I think I took a couple of good ones," Davey said. "It's bound to happen in 10 rounds with a good boy like Chico."

Davey said he wasn't really hurt any time during the fight and described his eye cuts as "superficial."

Wolverines Host To Big Ten Track Meet

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan is "going all out" to make the Big Ten track and field championships the finest conference event ever held, said Athletic Director Fritz Crisler today. The championships are scheduled here May 30-31.

With defending champion Illinois fighting against a 250-man field, all anxious to take the boat for Helsinki and the Olympic games this summer, the huge meet shapes up as a fine preview of the huge international event.

Canada, Sweden, Finland, Panama and the United States will be represented. The meet will be run off at Michigan's Ferry Field.

"Given good weather," said Crisler, "the meet should be one of the finest of its kind ever held." Crisler said that 20,000 ticket applications would be mailed out, starting Monday, covering reserved seats as well as general admission.

Colleges Set Season Limits

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—The Southern Conference moved today to place strict limitations on seasons for the various sports.

Only two exceptions were expected as the 17-member conference opened its spring meeting. The league will make allowances in its limitations to permit participation in tournaments and meets of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Southern Invitational Boxing tournaments.

Football and basketball were the major sports affected. A spokesman said the circuit would limit the grid campaign to begin with the third Saturday in September and end with the first Saturday in December. No more than 10 games may be played in any season.

The basketball season will start December 1 and end with the annual conference cage tourney at Raleigh, N. C., in March.

Presidents of the 17 member schools assembled yesterday and voted to recommend to the conference that freshmen be outlawed from participating in varsity competition starting in September, 1953, and that athletic scholarships be limited to "actual institutional expenses."

The presidents knocked out the present $15 monthly laundry allowance included in virtually all athletic scholarships granted by Southern Conference schools.

The presidents indicated they were willing to string along pretty much with the American Council on Education's 11-point program pertaining to athletic policy.

The presidents took exception to one ACE proposal, however. This concerned the length of time a normal student requires to obtain a degree. The ACE says four years. The presidents voted to recommend five years to the conference and that no graduate students be permitted to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

The smallest baseball park in the National League, as far as seating capacity is concerned, is Crosley Field, Cincinnati. It holds 30,000.

Halfback Traded For Coach Ramsey

DETROIT—(AP)—The Detroit Lions have traded a halfback for a coach.

They gave halfback Gerry Krall to the Chicago Cardinals for assistant coach Garrard (Buster) Ramsey yesterday.

Ramsey, a 32-year-old veteran lineman of six National Football League campaigns, is expected to fill a Lion coaching vacancy left by the resignation of Earl Brown this week.

Ramsey was ruled property of the Cardinals by NFL Commissioner Bert Bell because he was signed to a player-coach contract. Ramsey did his college playing with William and Mary.

Krall, 25, was signed recently as a free agent by the Lions, who cut him adrift after a 1951 spring try-out. He lives in Toledo and played at Ohio State.

New York GOP Picks Eisenhower Delegates
NEW YORK — (AP)—Six pro-Eisenhower delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention were elected by the New York GOP state committee Wednesday.

They and 90 district delegates chosen at the April 22 primary will make up New York state's powerful 96-vote convention delegation.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has said that all but one of the district delegates will support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination. One announced backer of Sen. Robert A. Taft was elected at the primary.

Supporters of Taft claim he will get at least 17 of New York's votes. Under state law, the delegates are unpledged.

Wall Street

NEW YORK—(P)—The stock market held fairly steady today with selective strength in rails and oils.

With the exception of a few wide movers, the market stretched over a range of around a point either way.

Trading was very quiet. Shell Oil was up around 23 points at times. The company announced that its new well in the Glendive field has shown the largest initial production yet obtained in the Montana section of the Williston basin.

Amerasia, with a huge stake in the basin, was up between 1 and 2 points.

Among other stocks advancing were Santa Fe, Chrysler, Dow Chemical, and Texas Pacific Land Trust. Lower were Standard Oil (NJ), Studebaker, Sears Roebuck, and Boeing.

Hesitancy as the weekend approached gave rise in some brokerage circles to the belief that the market might be getting ready for another test of the year's lows.

Ridgway Orders Force To Rescue Captive General

North Korean POWs seized him at the gates of a compound. Ridgway said the Communists were demanding "phones, permission to organize, writing paper and some other things" before they would release Dodd.

The Army released only meager details of the new rebellion at Koje and kept newsmen from going there. First announcement of the kidnapping came early today.

An Eighth Army spokesman said Dodd and Lt. Col. Wilbur Robert Raven of Newton, Tex., were seized while standing at the gate of a prison compound talking to leaders of the 6,000 Communist prisoners.

Kicks Himself Free
"The gate was a wide one," the spokesman said. "Dodd was standing in the center of the gate. When the prisoners grabbed him, it was an organized mob and he was swept inside."

"But Raven was standing beside a post of the gate. When the prisoners grabbed him, he seized the post, held on, and by fighting and kicking managed to free himself. The post saved him, but General Dodd had nothing to cling to."

The Army said Dodd has been treated well by the Reds. He communicated with guard posts outside the barbed wire stockade by Army field telephone and couriered messages. He received American food while the North Korean POWs ate their usual bowls of rice — both passed through from outside.

Convicts Captured In Detroit Admit 4 Big Burglaries

DETROIT—(P)—Two escaped convicts caught with an arsenal of 15 guns in their stolen car have admitted holdups in four states netting more than $15,000, police said today.

The convicts, Virgil Lane, 26, and Julius Newman, 34, were captured because Lane's wife, Dorothy, had seen them driving by, officers disclosed.

The pair were picked up Wednesday night on a West Side street. Police said their car, which had one mile registered on its speedometer when it was stolen, had 10,000 miles on it when the two were captured.

Lane and Newman told police they held up supermarkets, a drugstore and bowling alley in Dayton, O., Springfield, O., and Mansfield, O. Their other robberies, they said, were at business places in Terre Haute, Evansville and Indianapolis, Ind., and Louisville, Ky.

Most of their loot, they said, went for "gambling and good times." But they deposited some of it in a Cincinnati, O., bank and couldn't withdraw it when a cashier became suspicious of them.

Both men had walked away from the Detroit House of Correction farm where they were transferred late in 1951 from Southern Michigan prison. Both were serving terms for robbery.

Building Trades Walkout Called

DETROIT—(P)—All construction in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties was threatened today by a strike of building trades workers set for midnight tonight.

State Labor Mediator Robert E. Lomasney said he saw no prospect for early settlement of the dispute, but declared he would hold negotiations into session today as long as possible.

Lomasney, calling a "last ditch" session for 1 p. m. today, said, "I can't say the situation looks bright."

In dispute are wage demands of the AFL Building Trades Council. It represents locals of carpenters, laborers, portable and hoisting engineers, bricklayers, reinforced steel workers and construction drivers and cement masons, totaling 31,000 members in the three-county area.

If those unionists walk out, their picket lines would be honored by 70,000 other building trades workers such as electricians, plumbers, and pipefitters.

The unions are seeking a 15 cent hourly across the board pay hike and another 7 1/2 cents for health and welfare benefits.

New Iran Parliament Meeting Breaks Up In Screaming Disorder

TEHRAN, Iran—(P)—The first business meeting of Iran's new parliament broke up temporarily in wild disorder last night.

Deputies and onlookers screamed at each other, and one deputy smashed desks.

Trouble started when the Lower House, The Majlis, was asked to approve 76 newly elected members. Supporters of Premier Mohammad Mossadegh's Nationalist government demonstrated their objection to two of the deputies by shouting and pounding their desks.

Some spectators shouted their support of the two. One of the deputies in question, Medhi Mirasharafi, strode about the chamber, yelling and shattering desks.

The speaker finally gave up trying to restore order and dismissed the Majlis. When quiet was restored, it met again, approved the credentials of 50 deputies and opposed 22. Those who failed to win approval must be reconsidered by an investigating committee.

Gov. Williams Playing Politics With Prisons, Says GOP Spokesman

LANSING—(P)—Charges by Governor Williams that guard forces at the state prison of Southern Michigan had to be cut because of insufficient appropriations were denied by Republican spokesmen today with the counter-charge of "politics."

"When Williams says that he is talking politically, not factually," said Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron), a member of the House Ways and Means committee.

Phillips said the $2,827,253 for prison personnel in the next fiscal year could be spread to retain the present number of guards or even increase the guard force by reducing the non-custodial employees.

Rep. Joseph E. Warner (R-Ypsilanti), chairman of the committee, said the same situation prevailed in the mental hospitals.

"The administration should cut some of the non-essentials," Warner said. "But here again is an obvious effort to play politics with the mental health system so the governor will have another campaign issue."

Whether the Senate will accept the compromise without the combat pay provision remains to be seen.

The compromise measure follows generally the pattern of a military pay increase voted by the House in January. It approved a flat 10 per cent boost in base pay and food and rental allowances, estimated to cost $80

Treaty Prepared To Unite Nations Defending Europe

EDC treaty provides these Germans can not be recruited and armed until the defense community itself is in operation—fully ratified and running—even optimistic estimates do not see the international army as a going concern before mid-1954.

That, coincidentally, is the period that Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, has said will be the time of greatest danger of Soviet aggression against the United States.

Still unsettled in the EDC treaty is the clause allocating West Germany's contribution to western defense of some $2,600,000,000—what portion will be used by West Germany for her own troops, and what will go to the United States, Britain and France for their troops in Germany. This question is being fought out in the peace contract negotiations.

Other points yet to be agreed are how long the treaty is to last, whether a veto will be allowed in voting and where the army headquarters will be.

As it now stands, the EDC treaty provides for a 40-odd division combined force in a single uniform placed under the military command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Like the Schuman plan, the defense community will have a semi-federal structure with executive, legislative and judicial branches.

millions additional annually. The Senate voted an increase of only 3 per cent in base pay with flat dollar boosts in food and rental allowances, with most of the latter going to enlisted men and lower-ranking officers with dependents.

Because most privates and other low-ranking enlisted personnel have food and lodging furnished by the government and have no dependents, they would get only three dollars above their present $75 monthly.

Privates, corporals and sergeants and corresponding ranks who do have dependents would get increases ranging from $13 to $19 above present pay and rental allowances.

Relief Roll Publicity Curbed By New Law

LANSING—(P)—Legislation was signed by Governor Williams today to place restrictions on the publication of state welfare and relief rolls.

The bill applies only to welfare cases not financed by any federal funds.

Michigan Starts Off Bandwagon For Gov. Williams

vinced this is not the year and that a favorite son endorsement will merely give him trading strength at the convention and enhance his reputation for a real try four years from now.

Behind the Williams-For-President move, will be plenty of negotiating for second-choice support.

Hicks Griffiths, Williams' former law partner and former state Democratic chairman, is midwest coordinator of the presidential campaign forces of U. S. Senator Estes Kefauver. Former governor Murray D. Van Wagoner is state Kefauver chairman.

On the other side, Neil Staebler, present state chairman, has been an open backer of Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, who says he won't run.

Sticks With Truman
Williams has indicated an intention of sticking with the present national party leadership, probably in the hope that he can inherit the administration machine in 1956. He is expected to go along with the decisions of President Truman and his aides when the national convention decides.

The congressional district caucuses tomorrow morning will each elect two delegates and two alternates to the national convention, a total of 36 each.

Williams, U. S. Senator Blair Moody, Staebler and Adelaide Hart, party vice-chairman, will be four of the eight delegates at large. Others will include such party figures as Van Wagoner, former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, but the bulk of the list has not been settled yet.

Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, former Congresswoman from Illinois and wife of Illinois' U. S. Senator Paul Douglas, will deliver the keynote address, the first woman keynoter at the state convention in memory.

Lawrence Walsh of Ontonagon will be the temporary chairman.

Seattle Soldier Suicide Stopped

SEATTLE—(P)—A 21-year-old soldier who said he would "rather die here than in Korea" was prevented from doing so late last night when he was dragged from a precarious 10th-floor perch on the outside of a hotel fire escape.

The soldier, who identified himself as Pvt. Jack Madsen, 21, of Illinois, had stood outside the railing holding by one hand while police detective Don Sprinkle begged and pleaded with him not to let go.

Sprinkle kept talking, edging closer all the while. Madsen flexed his fingers as if he were preparing to let go.

"He was wearing a gold wedding band," Sprinkle said. "I asked him if he was having trouble with his wife."

"Stay away," the soldier said. "I'm going to jump." Sprinkle kept talking—and edging up. Clarence Owens, a bellhop, was closing in from the other side.

"I'd rather die here than in Korea," Sprinkle said Madsen told him nervously.

"Come in and talk it over, Jack," Sprinkle said. "It isn't as bad as that." Then he grabbed the young soldier by his arm. Owen pinioned his shoulders. The soldier broke down in a fit of tears.

Madsen was turned over to military authorities.
